

Cartoons for the Classroom

Presented by NIEonline.com and the Association of American Editorial Cartoonists (AAEC)

Health becomes a campaign issue

@Ramireztoons

HILLARY'S HEALTH PROBLEM.

Michael Ramirez, Investors Business Daily / Courtesy of Cagle.com

Talking points

1. Pneumonia forced Hillary Clinton to stop campaigning for a few days and highlighted health as an issue. What do these cartoons say about it?
2. How important is the health of presidential candidates?
3. Clinton's campaign aides apologized for concealing her illness. What have Clinton and Donald Trump been accused of hiding from the voters?
4. Why are the identities of many campaign contributors hidden from voters?

Between the lines

"They're hitting each other on the heads with stethoscopes to try to earn points. You've got older candidates, so you're going to see health problems and risks." - Arthur L. Caplan, professor of medical ethics.

<http://www.nytimes.com/2016/09/15/us/politics/hillary-clinton-health-donald-trump.html>

Additional resources

More by Michael Ramirez

<http://www.cagle.com/michael-ramirez/>

More by Clay Bennett

<http://editorialcartoonists.com/cartoon/browse.cfm/BenneC>

Association of American

Editorial Cartoonists

<http://editorialcartoonists.com>

Bennett Chattanooga Times Free Press

Clay Bennett, Chattanooga Times Free Press / Courtesy of AAEC