

Cartoons for the Classroom

Presented by NIEonline.com and the Association of American Editorial Cartoonists (AAEC)

Will GOP decide race at convention?

MARGULIES
© 2016 www.jimmymagulies.com

Jimmy Margulies / Courtesy of AAEC

Talking points

1. What are these cartoons saying about this year's Republican convention?
2. What happens at a contested convention?
3. How likely is it that the convention will start without a candidate having enough delegate votes to win the GOP presidential nomination?
4. What impact could a contested convention have on Republican chances in the general election?
5. Why are party leaders worried about the leading candidates for the nomination?

Between the lines

"The cost of denying him is to split the party. And the cost of not denying him is it becomes his party, and Donald Trump becomes the face of the party."

Matthew Kerbel, political science professor.

<http://m.csmonitor.com/USA/Politics/2016/0406/Ted-Cruz-victory-shows-GOP-s-impossible-conundrum-video>

Additional resources

More by Jimmy Magulies

http://editorialcartoonists.com/cartoon/brows\_e.cfm/MarguJ

More by Rick McKee

<http://www.cagle.com/author/rick-mckee/>

Association of American Editorial Cartoonists

<http://editorialcartoonists.com>

Rick McKee, Augusta Chronicle / Courtesy of Cagle.com