

First Satellite Image of Earth

In 1959, the U.S. satellite Explorer VI took the first photographic image of the planet Earth from space while passing over the Central Pacific Ocean. The black-and-white image shows a portion of the ocean and the cloud cover in the area. The picture was made while the satellite was about 17,000 miles above the Earth.

Image Credit: NASA